Giorgos Kapsalis is a specialist for Thracian dances and dances of his home area Epirus, as well. But he teaches Macedonian dances, too. Giorgos teaches very professional and with passion. He was our guest in Berlin for many times. At this seminar friends will join him. Like in 2019 they will accompany this weekend seminar, but also play for the audience on Friday and Saturday night: Fotis Karaviotis, a Vlach-epirotic clarinetist will let his instrument show the variety of emotions, which is typically for the music of this region. Giorgos Davliakos, a multi-instrumentalist from Thessaloniki, celebrates Thracian melodies with his gajda and other tunes from Northern Greece with the accordion. Together with Giorgos Kapsalis the musicians will sing in polyphonic style, too. Oliver Goers, drummer of the Balkan band Ljuti Hora, will accompany the Greek guests on percussion instruments. The musicians will play for audience at a Greek restaurant on Friday night and at the dance party on Saturday, too. The dance seminar is suitable for both, beginners with some Balkan dance knowledge and advanced dancers.
